

Online Practice Tests

Litmus Learning's online practice tests (primers) act as an assessment tool offering effective practice tests for candidates prior to taking the live ECDL/ICDL test. The practice tests are designed to look and feel like the 'live' test, to assist candidates in qualifying their existing skills, getting experience of the testing environment and preparing for the live ECDL/ICDL test.

What is Litmus Learning's Online Primer?

Litmus Learning's Online Primer is a platform to take practice tests for ECDL/ICDL certification. It contains practice questions designed to look and feel like the real thing, to assist candidates in their preparation for the live exam. Unlimited primer tests can be taken until the candidate feels completely confident. There are 18 different primer tests covering all seven modules + Unit E.

How can I use the Online Primer?

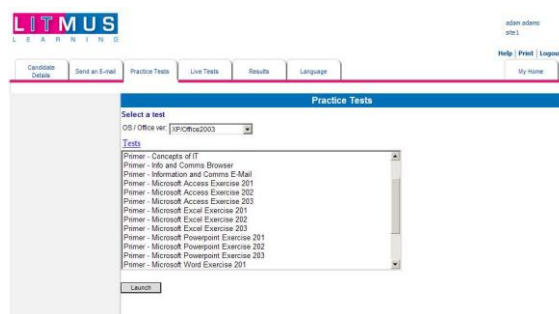

So long as your centre has paid the annual hosting fee & signed your annual licence agreement you will have access to the Online Primer. There are no installations and special settings required. The only requirements are the installation of the support files and an internet connection. The primer tests can be taken any number of times.

Fast Facts:

- Simple to use – Software installation is not required, only support files need to be downloaded
- You require an Internet connection and a web browser to access the Online Primer
- Practice at home - Primer tests are unlimited
- Instant results
- Available in both English & Arabic

Support:

- Microsoft Windows 2000, Windows XP, and Windows Vista
- Microsoft Office 2003, XP, Office 2007

Want to find out more?

For more information, please visit us at <http://www.litmuslearning.com>
For any enquiries, contact us at sales@litmuslearning.com
Telephone UK 01928 515757